

Santa Clara City Library considers Active Borrowers as library cards that have checked out materials within the last three years.